Wahpeton, N. D., July 21.—(U.P.)—W. D. Henry, only living uncle of Mrs. Herbert Hoover, aided deputies today in an attempt to solve an unsuccessful extortion plot against the local banker. Henry drove into the country near here Friday night as instructed, he told officers. He had bound the money in a white cloth and threw it from his automobile. No one appeared to collect the $75 in bills.

FIEND SLAYER KILLS YOUTH AND ATTACKS GIRL

COLORADO SPRINGS, COLO., IS AROUSED OVER MURDER AND ASSAULT

GLENDIA KING, 18, DAUGHTER OF PROMINENT FAMILY, SOBS OUT STORY

Colorado Springs, Colo., July 21.—(U.P.)—With orders of "shoot to kill on sight," every available law officer in this mountain resort city today sought a fiend killer who last night shot and killed a local youth and attacked his girl companion.

The slaying was not discovered until Glendia King, 18, daughter of a prominent local family, appeared at an outlying home this morning hysterically screaming for help. A short distance away was an automobile, the body of Louis "Buddy" Palmer, 19, son of another prominent family.

The girl sobbed out that she and Palmer had been parked in the automobile in Prospect Lake park when a man suddenly appeared from some bushes, and ordered them out of the machine.

"He had a gun, and we got out of the machine with our hands in the air," she said. "Then without any warning he shot Buddy. As Buddy dropped to the ground he told me 'you'll get the same thing if you make one bum move'."

Then, the girl said, he forced her into the bushes a few feet from where the body lay and attacked her. How long he kept her there the frightened girl could not tell, but finally he took her back to the machine, and there forced her to help him to toss the body of Palmer into the rear seat.

"Then he told me to get in and drive and said he would kill me if I tried any tricks," the girl said.

For some time he forced her to drive aimlessly about the town, finally he stole an automobile parked at the curb and told the girl to "get the hell out of here quick," as he drove away. Police did not know whether there were occupants in the parked machine the slayer had made his getaway in, or whether it had been empty. From the direction he started it was believed he was headed for Denver.

MATCHES, KEROSENE, PLAYING CHILDREN BRING DEATH TO BABY

River Falls, Wis., July 21.—(U.P.)—Three or four children, a box of matches, and a tank of kerosene were blamed today for the death of 18 months old Richard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Linehan, River Falls insurance agent.

The children had been playing in an old barn which was being used as a garage, when suddenly fire broke out. One of the children ran and told Richard's sister, Harriet, 18, that the barn was on fire. Harriet returned in time to rescue two of the children.

A tank of kerosene exploded, making it impossible to rescue Richard, whose body was found later.

ONE GIRL IS FOUND; ANOTHER NOW MISSING

Stillwater, Minn., July 21.—(U.P.)—While the disappearance of one girl, missing since Sunday when she failed to return from a picnic at Bayport, was cleared up, a second girl was reported missing here today.

Lydia Singleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Singleman of Bayport, has not been seen since yesterday noon, when she left home to take lunch to her father. She is said to be very friendly to strangers, and is thought to have been picked up by a passing motorist.

Minnesota Rural Credits Bureau May Face Deficit of Approximately $400,000 Shortly

WHEN INTEREST PAYMENTS BECOME DUE ON BONDS

STATE FACES INTEREST OBLIGATIONS OF $824,000 DUE ON AUGUST 1

C. F. GAARENSTROM SAID FUNDS AVAILABLE TOTAL ONLY $445,700

St. Paul, Minn., July 21.—(U.P.)—The Minnesota Rural Credits Bureau may face a deficit of approximately $400,000 when interest payments come due on outstanding bonds and certificates, it was learned today.

C. F. Gaarenstrom, chairman of the Rural Credits Bureau, was understood to have asked Attorney General Henry Benson for legal advice on how the state will meet its interest obligations of $824,000 due August 1. He said the funds available totaled only approximately $445,700.

Benson replied, it was reported, that a special issue of tax certificates undoubtedly would have to be resorted to pay the money.

Previously, the bureau had been able to issue certificates of indebtedness but the limit for such issues had been reached now and the bureau must pay the interest on previous certificates and meet new deficits.

Gaarenstrom has asked H. M. Fero, secretary of the board and assistant attorney general member of the board, to assist in solving the financial difficulties.

Foreseeing this crisis, the last session of the legislature defeated a bill which would have increased the bureau's limit of indebtedness from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

This financial tangle is another development in the bureau's past management of which resulted in the removal of H. H. Flowers, secretary, who pleaded guilty to taking illegal profits by the placing of the bureau's insurance. Flowers had claimed in his last annual report and in testimony before a legislative investigation committee that last year the bureau had shown a profit of $180,000.

Gaarenstrom disputed these figures during his exposure of the bureau's policy and discovered that the board had been in the habit of issuing certificates of indebtedness for the payment of interest charges making it appear that the bureau was showing a profit. These paper profits have been wiped out, he said.

The estimated interest obligations prepared for Gov. Olson follow: July 15 interest due on bonds $67,500 Aug. 1 interest due on bonds 520,000 Aug. 1 interest due on certificates of indebtedness 16,300 Aug. 15 interest due on bonds 226,230

Total $824,105 Gaarenstrom estimated that with cash in the interest fund amounting to $85,746, expense fund money, $50,000, estimated receipts, $125,000, and with certificates of indebtedness which still can be issued amounting to $185,000 the cash available to meet the obligations amounts to $445,746. The bureau already has issued $815,000 out of its limit of $1,000,000 on the certificates of indebtedness. "The situation is a grave one," Gaarenstrom said. "However, it is one which the public may as well face frankly. The farm board has been costly, but it has provided a service to agriculture and it has been helpful to agriculture in times of distress. We want the public to see the bureau in this light and we do not intend to mislead the public into thinking the bureau has been making a profit when in reality it has been increasing its obligations."

NORTHWESTERN CAPITAL REPLACES EASTERN AID

FIRST BANK STOCK CORPORATION MOVING FIGURE IN ENTERPRISE

PURCHASES CONTROLLING INTEREST IN AGRICULTURAL SECURITIES CORPORATION

Minneapolis, Minn., July 21.—(U.P.)—Northwestern capital will replace money from eastern financial centers through the purchase of a controlling interest in the Agricultural Securities Corporation by the First Bank Stock Corporation today.

The Agricultural Securities Corporation, a holding company of The Agricultural Credit Corporation of Minneapolis, was organized in 1924 to tide over farmers of the northwest who were then hit by the post-war depression of farm prices. Eastern financial interests, railroads and financiers organized to aid the farmers. Eastern interests have felt for some time that the northwest could now take over entire management and thereby turn the money back to the east, it was said.

Under the new arrangements the corporation will function similarly to the past organization. C. T. Jaffry, president of the Soo line railroad, is chairman of the boards of directors of the three units involved in the transaction.

ALBERT B. FALL IS NOW CONVICT IN PENITENTIARY

RECEIVED LAST NIGHT AS FEDERAL PRISONER, NEW MEXICO STATE PRISON

TO SERVE YEAR AND A DAY FOR ACCEPTING $100,000 BRIBE IN OIL SCANDALS

By ED WERKMAN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Sante Fe, N. M., July 21.—(U.P.)—Albert B. Fall, secretary of the interior in the Harding administration, was a convict today in the New Mexico state penitentiary.

Fall was received last night as federal prisoner to serve a year and a day for accepting a $100,000 bribe in the oil scandals. He was sent directly to a room in the prison hospital.

"I'm sorry for my family, but I don't give a damn about myself," he said.

The once mighty politician, faced today the ignominious ceremony of being "mugged," as his 542 fellow convicts term it, and measured on the prison Bertillon department. His photograph, front and side, and his fingerprints will be sent to Washington to be placed in rogue's gallery. He also faced a physical examination by the prison physician, Dr. W. E. Fiske, to determine whether he will remain in the spacious hospital quarters to which he was sent when he arrived in an ambulance from his range at Three Rivers, N. M.

Warden Ed Swope said he would treat the former cabinet member in accordance with instructions from Sanford Bates, federal superintendent of prisons, which directed him to take into consideration Fall's age and condition of health, "but to see he gets no special privileges or favors."

The former secretary, who exhausted every possible legal maneuver in his efforts to escape serving the sentence, arrived at 10:16 p. m. in the black ambulance in which he had ridden 325 miles from his home in El Paso.

Prison rules forbidding induction of prisoners after 6 p. m. were suspended. The big prison gate opened to the ambulance siren, then clanged shut behind the black machine which Fall had described as a "damned hearse."

For 20 miles he had technically been in custody of federal officials. At Lamy, N. M., where the ambulance was stopped to permit Fall his last meal outside the penitentiary, a repast of coffee and toast was interrupted by the arrival of Swope, David Jackson, a prison guard, and United States Marshal Joseph Tondre.

"Hello, Mr. Fall," Tondre said walking to the ambulance with hand extended.

"Hello, Mr. Tondre," answered Fall, who knows every figure of political prominence in his home state, "I am glad to see you."

Tondre did not read the commitment papers.

"He knows well enough what we want," the marshal explained. Tondre turned Fall over to Swope, who in turn placed the ex-cabinet member in the charge of Jackson. Mrs. Fall, who had ridden from the ranch with her husband, left the ambulance. She went on to Sante Fe, with her daughter, Mrs. Jovett Elliott, to the home of Democratic State Chairman William Barker, where she will stay indefinitely.

NORTHWEST POLICE SEEK KIDNAPER

Moorhead, Minn., July 21.—(U.P.)—Northwest police today were seeking an unidentified man alleged to have kidnapped Gordon Christianson, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Christianson, Moorhead.

The search was centered about Detroit Lakes, Minn., where Gordon was taken by the man late Saturday.

The boy left here against the wishes of his parents, saying that the man had promised him a free ride to Detroit Lakes where he planned to spend the week end as the guest of the proprietor, a friend of the family.

The Christiansons yesterday swore out a John Doe warrant against the man, whom police believe is known by the boy.

AIRMAIL PILOT INSTANTLY KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Centralia, Ill., July 21.—(U.P.)—Frank Hamann, airmail pilot, was killed today when his plane, en route to Evansville, Ind., from St. Louis crashed in woodland eight miles west of here.

A farmer named Bach, who heard the plane circling around in a heavy rain before dawn, called neighbors. The searching party found the wrecked plane several hours later. Hamann apparently had been instantly killed.

Hamann, whose home was in Evansville, left St. Louis at 11:30 p. m. despite a heavy rain, carrying 12 sacks of mail for southern points. The plane was to make connections at Evansville with the Nashville-Atlanta Airway plane.

Bach said he was awakened at 2 a. m. by a plane that circled several times over his farm. Then he heard it crash. With neighbors he began a search for the craft at daylight.

The plane, operated by the American Airways, was a total wreck. Hamann's body was wedged into the fuselage, and it was several hours before it could be lifted out. The mail bags were found intact.

TALES OF HEROISM TO BE RECITED BY CHAS. LOCKWOOD

LONE SURVIVOR OF 1ST MINNESOTA INFANTRY MARCHED TO BATTLE 70 YEARS AGO

LOCKWOOD TO BE HONORED GUEST OF STILLWATER VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS

Stillwater, Minn., July 21.—(U.P.)—Tales of heroism by his comrades will be recited tonight by Charles Lockwood, lone survivor of the First Minnesota Infantry which 70 years ago marched away after an all night dance.

On the same spot where the men gallantly kissed their wives and sweethearts goodbye and then set out to defend the union at the call of "Father Abraham," Lockwood will be the honored guest of members of the Stillwater Post of Veterans of Foreign Wars.

It will be another debt to his comrades. He will tell the stories of victory and death. Seventy years ago the company marched away after an all night dance for Fort Snelling to train. After a few months, the company was ordered to the battle front. The 100 men were reduced as battle after battle took toll.

After the war, annual meetings were arranged so the men could tell yarns of amazing incidents during the war. Then came the suggestion of the "Last Man's Club." They joked and wondered who would be required to drink a toast to the departed members of the organization.

Last year, Lockwood formally closed the records of the club when he slipped a toast of burgundy while 33 flower draped chairs were all that served to remind of his dead partners in battle.

Tonight the 33 vacant chairs will be there but so will 100 state officials, world war veterans and other Civil war survivors. Lockwood will be given an opportunity to keep another debt to his comrades—a debt of telling the story of heroes.

48-HOUR GENERAL STRIKE IS CALLED IN SEVILLE, SPAIN

Seville, Spain, July 21.—(U.P.)—Industry was halted throughout Seville today by the general 48-hour strike which began last night. No newspapers were published.

Most people remained indoors, giving the city a deserted aspect. Authorities requisitioned all private automobiles. Distribution of bread and other foodstuffs was interrupted, and they were being sold in small quantities.

DROP INSISTENCE OF ANY POLITICAL GUARANTY IN LOAN

PRIOR TO SECURING $300,000,000 OR MORE FOREIGN CREDITS

THAT SUM IS REQUIRED BY GERMANS TO STAVE OFF FINANCIAL RUIN

By HERBERT MOORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, July 21.—(U.P.)—A radical departure from France's opposition to a long-term loan to save Germany from financial chaos was indicated today as statements of seven nations met in a crucial plenary session to restore economic and political stability in Europe.

The United Press understood on good authority France was ready to drop her insistence that Germany offer political guarantees prior to securing the $300,000,000 more foreign credits needed to stave off financial ruin.

The American Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson is confident big American banks will help Germany. They will cooperate toward maintaining German credits providing banks in other countries act similarly, in his belief.

Addressing the plenary session this morning, he made it clear that American banks have not withdrawn any of their credits in Germany, and some have even increased them.

Instead of political guarantees, it was intimated, the French now are willing to support the credits, providing adequate financial guarantees are given by Germany.

France is willing, for example, to reach a rapid agreement during the present vital conversation if the loan is secured by a lien on the German customs, it was understood authoritatively.

Germany, however, has rejected "feelings" on such a proposal, insisting the government at Berlin could not permit such a move. It was interpreted in Berlin as a blow at Germany's sovereignty, comparable to foreign control of the customs service in China.

It was believed that inasmuch as the French would be willing to accept "adequate financial guarantees," however, that some other basis for these could be reached.

It was indicated that inasmuch as Germany is building the "Pocket Battleships" under the treaty of Versailles, France is not likely to make abandonment of these warships essential to her support of the proposed loan, as originally planned. However, the French probably will do their utmost to persuade the German leaders to abandon their naval program as a gesture of good will.

Premier Pierre Laval and Budget Minister Francois Pietri, of France, said they hoped to return to Paris by Thursday at the latest, leaving Foreign Minister Aristide Briand and Finance Minister P. E. Flandin here, if necessary, to continue the conference. An early agreement, however, was expected.

Some delegates revealed that sufficient progress had been made, when the session at the foreign office adjourned at 12:40 p. m., to enable financial ministers and their representatives to meet in MacDonald's room in the House of Commons at 3:30 p. m. today, presumably to prepare material for tomorrow's plenary session.

It was understood that today's plenary session fully examined the entire situation and that Chancellor Brüning gave further details of Germany's financial situation.

Fighting against time, the statesmen were urged by Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald to act quickly. The German debacle, with its threat to world economic and political stability, needs prompt action, the British premier said at the preliminary session last evening.

He urged, in effect, that statesmen and diplomats of the seven powers apply "big business" methods to a diplomatic problem. The spectacle of cabinet ministers and heads of the government of France and Germany hurrying to London to act within 48 to 72 hours on so gigantic a problem as the economic salvation of Germany, and allied questions seldom has been witnessed.

MacDonald in his welcoming address emphasized that the task of restoring confidence in Germany's credit was vital to the world. Delay, he insisted, would prove fatal.

"Time is against us," the British premier said. "Every day adds the risk of collapse, which will be beyond human control."

"Our position," MacDonald said, "is to restore confidence of the foreign investor in Germany. Clearly the problem is both political and financial, but the mind of this conference is concentrated on the latter."

MacDonald traced the financial difficulties of Germany. He lauded President Hoover's war debts and reparations holiday plan which he said had saved the situation temporarily.

"By June 18, the position appeared almost hopeless," the British premier said, "when the whole face of the world was changed in half an hour by the dramatic announcement of President Hoover's offer."

It was no small thing to ask the

ONE GIRL IS FOUND; ANOTHER NOW MISSING

Stillwater, Minn., July 21.—(U.P.)—While the disappearance of one girl, missing since Sunday when she failed to return from a picnic at Bayport, was cleared up, a second girl was reported missing here today.

Lydia Singleman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Singleman of Bayport, has not been seen since yesterday noon, when she left home to take lunch to her father. She is said to be very friendly to strangers, and is thought to have been picked up by a passing motorist.

At the same time, Edith Burnett, 16-year-old daughter of Mrs. Etta Burnett, of St. Paul, returned to her home. She had gone to the home of a friend after the picnic at Bayport Sunday, became ill and had been unable to go home.

Minnesota Rural Credits Bureau May Face Deficit of Approximately $400,000 Shortly

WHEN INTEREST PAYMENTS BECOME DUE ON BONDS

STATE FACES INTEREST OBLIGATIONS OF $824,000 DUE ON AUGUST 1

C. F. GAARENSTROM SAID FUNDS AVAILABLE TOTAL ONLY $445,700

St. Paul, Minn., July 21.—(U.P.)—The Minnesota Rural Credits Bureau may face a deficit of approximately $400,000 when interest payments come due on outstanding bonds and certificates, it was learned today.

C. F. Gaarenstrom, chairman of the Rural Credits Bureau, was understood to have asked Attorney General Henry Benson for legal advice on how the state will meet its interest obligations of $824,000 due August 1. He said the funds available totaled only approximately $445,700.

Benson replied, it was reported, that a special issue of tax certificates undoubtedly would have to be resorted to to pay the money.

Previously, the bureau had been able to issue certificates of indebtedness but the limit for such issues had been reached now and the bureau must pay the interest on previous certificates and meet new deficits.

Gaarenstrom has asked H. M. Ferrer, secretary of the board and assistant attorney general member of the board, to assist in solving the financial difficulties.

Foreseeing this crisis, the last session of the legislature defeated a bill which would have increased the bureau's limit of indebtedness from $1,000,000 to $2,000,000.

This financial tangle is another development in the bureau's past management of which resulted in the removal of H. H. Flowers, secretary, who pleaded guilty to taking illegal profits by the placing of the bureau's insurance. Flowers had claimed in his last annual report and in testimony before a legislative investigation committee that last year the bureau had shown a profit of $180,000.

Gaarenstrom disputed these figures during his exposure of the bureau's policy and discovered that the board had been in the habit of issuing certificates of indebtedness for the payment of interest charges making it appear that the bureau was showing a profit. These paper profits have been wiped out, he said.

The estimated interest obligations prepared for Gov. Olson follow: July 15 Interest due on bonds, $67,500 Aug. 1, Interest due on bonds, 520,000 Aug. 1, Interest due on certificates of indebtedness, 16,300 Aug. 15, Interest due on bonds, 226,230

Total $824,105 Gaarenstrom estimated that with cash in the interest fund amounting to $85,746, expense fund money, $50,000, estimated receipts, $125,000, and certificates of indebtedness which still can be sold amounting to $185,000 the cash available to meet the obligations amounts to $445,746.

The bureau already has issued $815,000 out of its limit of $1,000,000 on the certificates of indebtedness.

"The situation is a grave one," Gaarenstrom said. "However, it is one which the public may as well face frankly. The farm board has been costly, but it has provided a service to agriculture and it has been helpful to agriculture in times of distress."

"We want the public to see the bureau in this light and we do not intend to mislead the public into thinking the bureau has been making a profit when in reality it has been increasing its obligations."

NORTHWESTERN CAPITAL REPLACES EASTERN AID

FIRST BANK STOCK CORPORATION MOVING FIGURE IN ENTERPRISE

PURCHASES CONTROLLING INTEREST IN AGRICULTURAL SECURITIES CORPORATION

Minneapolis, Minn., July 21.—(U.P.)—Northwestern capital will replace money from eastern financial centers through the purchase of a controlling interest in the Agricultural Securities Corporation by the First Bank Stock Corporation today.

The Agricultural Securities Corporation, a Holding company of The Agricultural Credit Corporation of Minneapolis, was organized in 1924 to tide over farmers of the northwest who were then hit by the post-war depression of farm prices. Eastern financial interests, railroads and financiers organized to aid the farmers. Eastern interests have felt for some time that the northwest could now take over entire management and thereby turn the moneys back to the east, it was said.

Under the new arrangements the corporation will function similarly to the past organization. C. T. Jaffry, president of the Soo line railroad, is chairman of the boards of directors of the three units involved in the transaction.

The former secretary, who exhausted every possible legal maneuver in his efforts to escape serving the sentence, arrived at 10:16 p. m., in the black ambulance in which he had ridden 325 miles from his home in El Paso.

The body had been hanging for approximately two weeks. A verdict of suicide was returned, and the man buried here.

TEAR GAS BOMB INTERRUPTS SESSION OF MINE WORKERS

Scranton, Pa., July 21.—(U.P.)—A tear gas bomb interrupted a tumultuous session of District No. 1, United Mine Workers of America, in biennial convention today and drove all present, including U. S. Senator James J. Davis, out of the hall into the street, seeking relief.

The bomb was tossed during general fist fighting on the floor of the stormy convention, while Senator Davis waited patiently on the platform for an opportunity to address the delegates. The dispute today centered indirectly around the presence of the senator from Pennsylvania.

ALBERT B. FALL IS NOW CONVICT IN PENITENTIARY

RECEIVED LAST NIGHT AS FEDERAL PRISONER, NEW MEXICO STATE PRISON

TO SERVE YEAR AND A DAY FOR ACCEPTING $100,000 BRIBE IN OIL SCANDALS

By ED WERKMAN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

Sante Fe, N. M., July 21.—(U.P.)—Albert B. Fall, secretary of the interior in the Harding administration, was a convict today in the New Mexico state penitentiary.

Fall was received last night as federal prisoner to serve a year and a day for accepting a $100,000 bribe in the oil scandals. He was sent directly to a room in the prison hospital.

"I'm sorry for my family, but I don't give a damn about myself," he said.

The once mighty politician, faced today the ignominious ceremony of being "mugged," as his 542 fellow convicts term it, and measured on the prison Bertillon department. His photograph, front and side, and his fingerprints will be sent to Washington to be placed in rogue's gallery.

He also faced a physical examination by the prison physician, Dr. W. E. Fiske, to determine whether he will remain in the spacious hospital quarters to which he was sent when he arrived in an ambulance from his range at Three Rivers, N. M.

Warden Ed Swope said he would treat the former cabinet member in accordance with instructions from Sanford Bates, federal superintendent of prisons, which directed him to take into consideration Fall's age and condition of health, but to see he gets no special privileges or favors.

The former secretary, who exhausted every possible legal maneuver in his efforts to escape serving the sentence, arrived at 10:16 p. m., in the black ambulance in which he had ridden 325 miles from his home in El Paso.

Prison rules forbidding induction of prisoners after 6 p. m. were suspended. The big prison gate opened to treat the black machine which Fall had described as a "damned hearse."

For 20 miles he had technically been in custody of federal officials. At Lamy, N. M., where the ambulance was stopped to permit Fall his last meal outside the penitentiary, a repast of coffee and toast was interrupted by the arrival of Swope, David Jackson, a prison guard, and United States Marshal Joseph Tondre.

"Hello, Mr. Fall," Tondre said walking to the ambulance with hand extended.

"Hello, Mr. Tondre," answered Fall, who knows every figure of political prominence in his home state, "I am glad to see you."

Tondre did not read the commitment papers.

"He knows well enough what we want," the marshal explained.

Tondre turned Fall over to Swope, who in turn placed the ex-cabinet member in the charge of Jackson. Mrs. Fall, who had ridden from the ranch with her husband, left the ambulance. She went on to Sante Fe, with her daughter, Mrs. Joette Elliott, to the home of Democratic State Chairman William Barker, where she will stay indefinitely.

NORTHWEST POLICE SEEK KIDNAPER

Moorhead, Minn., July 21.—(U.P.)—Northwest police today were seeking an unidentified man alleged to have kidnapped Gordon Christianson, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Christianson, Moorhead.

The search was centering about Detroit Lakes, Minn., where Gordon was taken by the man late Saturday.

The boy left here against the wishes of his parents, saying that the man had promised him a free ride to Detroit Lakes where he planned to spend the week end as the guest of the proprietor, a friend of the family.

The Christiansons yesterday swore out a John Doe warrant against the man, whom police believe is known by the boy.

AIRMAIL PILOT INSTANTLY KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Centuria, Ill., July 21.—(U.P.)—Frank Hamann, airmail pilot, was killed today when his plane, enroute to Evansville, Ind., from St. Louis crashed in woodland eight miles west of here.

A farmer named Bach, who heard the plane circling around in a heavy rain before dawn, called neighbors. The searching party found the wrecked plane several hours later. Hamann apparently had been instantly killed.

Hamann, whose home was in Evansville, left St. Louis at 11:30 p. m. despite a heavy rain, carrying 12 sacks of mail for southern points. The plane was to make connections at Evansville with the Nashville-Atlanta Airway plane.

Bach said he was awakened at 2 a. m. by a plane that circled several times over his farm. Then he heard it crash. With neighbors he began a search for the craft at daylight.

The plane, operated by the American Airways, was a total wreck. Hamann's body was wedged into the fuselage, and it was several hours before it could be lifted out. The mail bags were found intact.

TALES OF HEROISM TO BE RECITED BY CHAS. LOCKWOOD

LONE SURVIVOR OF 1ST MINNESOTA INFANTRY MARCHED TO BATTLE 70 YEARS AGO

LOCKWOOD TO BE HONORED GUEST OF STILLWATER VETERANS OF FOREIGN WARS

Stillwater, Minn., July 21.—(U.P.)—Tales of heroism by his comrades will be recited tonight by Charles Lockwood, lone survivor of the First Minnesota Infantry which 70 years ago marched away after an all night dance.

On the same spot where the men gallantly kissed their wives and sweethearts goodbye and then set out to defend the union at the call of "Father Abraham," Lockwood will be the honored guest of members of the Stillwater Post of Veterans of Foreign Wars.

It will be another debt to his comrades. He will tell the stories of victory and death. Seventy years ago the company marched away after an all night dance for Fort Snelling to train. After a few months, the company was ordered to the battle front. The 100 men were reduced as battle after battle took toll.

After the war, annual meetings were arranged so the men could tell yarns of amusing incidents during the war. Then came the suggestion of the "Last Man's Club." They joked and wondered who would be required to drink a toast to the departed members of the organization.

Last year, Lockwood formally closed the records of the club when he slipped a toast of burgundy while 33 flower draped chairs were all that served to remind of his dead partners in battle.

Tonight the 33 vacant chairs will be there but so will 100 state officials, world war veterans and other Civil war survivors. Lockwood will be given an opportunity to keep another debt to his comrades—a debt of telling the story of heroes.

HITLER OBJECTS TO PAYING REPARATIONS

Berlin, July 21.—(U.P.)—Adolph Hitler, Alfred Hugenburg and other nationalist leaders wired Chancellor Heinrich Brüning in London today that they would not regard as binding any political obligations towards France which Brüning may accept at London.

The message added that the Germans are not willing to continue paying reparations.

48-HOUR GENERAL STRIKE IS CALLED IN SEVILLE, SPAIN

Seville, Spain, July 21.—(U.P.)—Industry was halted throughout Seville today by the general 48-hour strike which began last night. No newspapers were published.

Civil guards had isolated one section of the city where a number of leaders of the striking group had taken refuge. One hundred and fifty had been arrested up to midday.

Most people remained indoors, giving the city a deserted aspect. Authorities requisitioned all private automobiles. Distribution of bread and other foodstuffs was interrupted, and they were being sold in small quantities.

DROP INSISTENCE OF ANY POLITICAL GUARANTY IN LOAN

PRIOR TO SECURING $300,000,000 OR MORE FOREIGN CREDITS

THAT SUM IS REQUIRED BY GERMANS TO STAVE OFF FINANCIAL RUIN

By HERBERT MOORE (United Press Staff Correspondent)

London, July 21.—(U.P.)—A radical departure from France's opposition to a long-term loan to save Germany from financial chaos was indicated today as statements of seven nations met in a crucial plenary session to restore economic and political stability in Europe.

The United Press understood on good authority France was ready to drop her insistence that Germany offer political guarantees prior to securing the $300,000,000 more foreign credits needed to stave off financial ruin.

The American Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson is confident big American banks will help Germany. They will cooperate toward maintaining German credits providing banks in other countries act similarly, in his belief.

Addressing the plenary session this morning, he made it clear that American banks have not withdrawn any of their credits in Germany, and some have even increased them.

Instead of political guarantees, it was intimated, the French now are willing to support the credits, providing adequate financial guarantees are given by Germany.

France is willing, for example, to reach a rapid agreement during the present vital conversation if the loan is secured by a lien on the German customs, it was understood authoritatively.

Germany, however, has rejected "feelings" on such a proposal, insisting the government at Berlin could not permit such a move. It was interpreted in Berlin as a blow at Germany's sovereignty, comparable to foreign control of the customs service in China.

It was believed that inasmuch as the French would be willing to accept "adequate financial guarantees," however, that some other basis for these could be reached.

It was indicated that inasmuch as Germany is building the "Pocket Battleships" under the treaty of Versailles, France is not likely to make abandonment of these warships essential to her support of the proposed loan, as originally planned. However, the French probably will do their utmost to persuade the German leaders to abandon their naval program as a gesture of good will.

Premier Pierre Laval and Budget Minister Francois Pietri, of France, said they hoped to return to Paris by Thursday at the latest, leaving Foreign Minister Aristide Briand and Finance Minister P. E. Flandin here, if necessary, to continue the conference. An early agreement, however, was expected.

Some delegates revealed that sufficient progress had been made, when the session at the foreign office adjourned at 12:40 p. m., to enable financial ministers and their representatives to meet in MacDonald's room in the House of Commons at 3:30 p. m. today, presumably to prepare material for tomorrow's plenary session.

It was understood that today's plenary session fully examined the entire situation and that Chancellor Brüning gave further details of Germany's financial situation.

Fighting against time, the statesmen were urged by Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald to act quickly. The German debacle, with its threat to world economic and political stability, needs prompt action, the British premier said at the preliminary session last evening.

He urged, in effect, that statesmen and diplomats of the seven powers apply "big business" methods to a diplomatic problem. The spectacle of cabinet ministers and heads of the government of France and Germany hurrying to London to act within 48 to 72 hours on so gigantic a problem as the economic salvation of Germany, and allied questions seldom has been witnessed.

MacDonald in his welcoming address emphasized that the task of restoring confidence in Germany's credit was vital to the world. Delay, he insisted, would prove fatal.

"Time is against us," the British premier said. "Every day adds the risk of collapse, which will be beyond human control."

"Our position," MacDonald said, "is to restore confidence of the foreign investor in Germany. Clearly the problem is both political and financial, but the mind of this conference is concentrated on the latter."

MacDonald traced the financial difficulties of Germany. He lauded President Hoover's war debts and reparations holiday plan which he said had saved the situation temporarily.

"By June 18, the position appeared almost hopeless," the British premier said

The Land of Milk

Patty just didn't like milk. One bright sunny day she sat in the garden playing. A big fat bee dived in and settled on a nearby blossom. Soon two more joined him.

"What a funny buzzing sound they make," thought Patty. "Wouldn't it be funny to be a bee and fly from flower to flower looking for honey? Then I wouldn't have to drink milk, or do anything at all but fly around and buzz and buzz."

Just then she noticed some one walking about under the trees. He seemed to be wringing his hands and looking for some one. He looked like a great big Milk Bottle. "But he can't be," mused Patty, "because Milk Bottles don't have legs and arms and heads. And besides he's talking."

He was quite near now and Patty saw the troubled look on his face and could hear distinctly what he was saying. "I wonder where she is, and I wonder why she doesn't like me when I like her so much." Then, catching sight of Patty, he hurried toward her.

"Patty dear," he called, "won't you come and play with me?"

He really was a Milk Bottle, and because his arms were short he had a hard time reaching for his cap. He tipped it ever so little.

"I'm glad he didn't bow," thought Patty, "he'd spill if he did." Aloud she said, "Go away, please. I don't like you."

"How do you know that you don't like me? Let me introduce some of my friends to you."

And sure enough there they were. They looked like Brownies; some were brown, some blue, some white and some red.

"My friends," he began in a very important tone of voice, "this is Patty. Tell her what you can do for her."

Then taking hold of hands they danced near and Patty noticed that they were lettered A, B, C, and D. They took off their caps, bowed low before her and said, "We are the Vitamins."

"Keeping eyes well and strong," sang A.

"Scaring illness away," cried B. "Making you grow," sang out C. And D in a high-pitched, squeaky voice piped, "Plenty of me, strong bones will be."

All this time four little blue ones had been whispering off to one side, with their heads together. Not until they faced her did she notice that they had their names written on white strips of paper, too.

(Copyright.)

"I'm Iron," said the first one, "and very important!"

"I'm Phosphorus," said another, standing beside little Iron.

"I make your teeth firm and strong," sang gay Calcium, dancing into place. And then Sulphur pulled his cap down over one eye, and with his hands in his pockets and his feet spread very wide apart, squeaked in his queer little voice, "I'm here, too, and my work is important for you."

Patty laughed until her sides ached at the way they fell over each other when they tried to form a pin-wheel.

One little odd red Brownie bowed before Patty as the others had done. "I am Protein, a perfect building-block for you, Patty!" And then he pulled his little red cap down tight on his head and turned cartwheels until he was quite out of breath.

All the while Mr. Milk Bottle smiled and nodded and looked very much pleased. By this time, too, Patty was feeling very much ashamed of the way she had spoken to him when he first came up to her. "Oh, Mr. Milk Bottle," she apologized with her prettiest smile, and her very deepest curtsy, "I do like you, and I do like your friends. They are all so happy and gay and so very polite. Won't you come to see me often?"

"We will come as often as you want us to," he smiled, "we live in every glass of milk you drink."

Questions:

1. How many pores has our skin?
2. Are human beings descendants of monkeys and gorillas?
3. What color is the sun?
4. Why does a zebra have stripes?

Answers:

1. After great study some one has found that the skin of an average sized man has about 7,000,000 pores. Each person's number is different, of course, but from this figure you can make some guesses that may be very nearly correct.

2. Great scientists have been trying to discover the answer to this question for many years, but although they know that the bodies of men and members of the monkey family are similar in structure, no explanations of this are yet known.

3. The sun cannot really be said to have any color. It merely has great brightness. Surrounding the bright surface is a gaseous substance that has a rose tint called the chromosphere. This, perhaps, gives the appearance of color to the sun.

4. The stripes of the zebra act as a protective coloring in the distance, making it difficult to find Mr. Zebra in the woods and on the plains where he dwells.

BRAINERD 25 Years Ago

July 21, 1906

Two heavy sections of the excursion from Jamestown to the head of the lakes passed through Brainerd this afternoon. The excursion is one of the heaviest so far this season.

The July pay day again smashed the record, and nearly $2,000 more was paid out today than last month. There will be heavy disbursements here in the next three months also on account of the construction of the tie preserving plant. Business is about 50 per cent heavier than last year.

The Carson Exploration company has a car of coal on the track here and will start their drill on J. M. Elder's farm in Long Lake township at once. Another drill was shipped from Deerwood to Lennox yesterday. The field of prospecting seems to be shifting to the south and west.

Miss Florence Britton and Miss Helen Sykora left today for St. Paul on a two weeks' visit with friends.

H. Krause who has been in the employ of John T. Imgrund the past year has decided to open a cigar factory at Staples. He will remove his family to that town some time this summer. The proposition voted on at Staples to bond the town for $70,000 for water works, sewerage and electric lights carried practically unanimously, only 26 out of 417 votes being recorded against the proposition. Staples will now incorporate as a city.

Charles Roberts went to Little Falls this morning to accept a position with the Western Union Telegraph company.

W. C. Ackerman, superintendent of construction on the tie plant, went to Duluth this morning to see if he could hurry up the machinery a little.

Stowaway Hides 9 Days Without Food or Drink

San Francisco.—For nine days and nights a sixteen-year-old South Sea island native boy lay without food and water in a canvas-covered lifeboat, a stowaway aboard the liner Makura, bound from Papeete to San Francisco. The boat docked. Deckhands began inspection of the lifeboats. When they lifted the cover which concealed him, the stowaway was too weak to escape, too exhausted even to give his name. Much of the time he had been in the boat a blistering tropic sun had beaten down on his canvas sealed, cramped quarters. He was removed from the ship on a stretcher and taken to Angel Island Immigration depot. He was sent back to Papeete when the Makura made its return trip.

Honor Paid Designer of Confederate Flag

Montgomery, Ala.—Gov. B. M. Miller has accepted for the state a marble tablet, designating Nicola Marchall, Marion, Ala., as the designer of the first Confederate flag.

The tablet was presented to the state by the women of the Alabama division of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Jean Hopkins, Montgomery, a great-granddaughter of Mrs. Napoleon Lockett, Marion, who suggested the design of stars and bars to Marchall, unveiled the memorial.

The flag was raised first on the capitol here March 4, 1861, following its adoption by the Confederate congress.

Whale a Back Number

The average oil well in the United States produces about 3,000 barrels of oil a year, which is 600 times as much as a whale yields in its lifetime.

Women's Qualities

"Tis beauty doth oft make women proud; 'tis virtue that doth make them most admired; 'tis modesty that makes them seem divine.—Shakespeare.

Record Newspaper
Probably the "biggest" newspaper ever published was the illuminated Quadruple Constellation, issued in New York in 1859. The paper measured 8 1/2 feet in height and 8 feet in width, and consisted of eight pages, each containing 13 columns.

Relative Food Values

According to a table of food values of fruits, nuts and vegetables recently published, chestnuts weighed without their shells head the list. Dried peas come next, and old potatoes, weighed as served, are third.

Keeping the Face Clean

The labor involved in keeping the average human face clean amounts to lifting about a pound of dirt per year per face.—Woman's Home Companion.

Delving Into the Past

About 75 new species of prehistoric animal life have been found by the central Asiatic expedition of the American Museum of Natural History.

The Children's Corner

EDITED BY DOROTHY EDMONDS

The Land of Milk

Patty just didn't like milk. One bright sunny day she sat in the garden playing. A big fat bee dived in and settled on a nearby blossom. Soon two more joined him.

"What a funny buzzing sound they make," thought Patty. "Wouldn't it be funny to be a bee and fly from flower to flower looking for honey? Then I wouldn't have to drink milk, or do anything at all but fly around and buzz and buzz."

Just then she noticed some one walking about under the trees. He seemed to be wringing his hands and looking for some one. He looked like a great big Milk Bottle. "But he can't be," mused Patty, "because Milk Bottles don't have legs and arms and heads. And besides he's talking."

He was quite near now and Patty saw the troubled look on his face and could hear distinctly what he was saying. "I wonder where she is, and I wonder why she doesn't like me when I like her so much." Then, catching sight of Patty, he hurried toward her.

"Patty dear," he called, "won't you come and play with me?"

He really was a Milk Bottle, and because his arms were short he had a hard time reaching for his cap. He tipped it ever so little.

"I'm glad he didn't bow," thought Patty, "he'd spill if he did." Aloud she said, "Go away, please. I don't like you."

"How do you know that you don't like me? Let me introduce some of my friends to you."

And sure enough there they were. They looked like Brownies; some wore brown, some blue, some white and some red.

"My friends," he began in a very important tone of voice, "this is Patty. Tell her what you can do for her."

Then taking hold of hands they danced near and Patty noticed that they were lettered A, B, C, and D. They took off their caps, bowed low before her and said, "We are the Vitamins."

"Keeping eyes well and strong," sang A.

"Scaring illness away," cried B.

"Making you grow," sang out C.

And D in a high-pitched, squeaky voice piped, "Plenty of me, strong bones will be."

All this time four little blue ones had been whispering off to one side, with their heads together. Not until they faced her did she notice that they had their names written on white strips of paper, too.

"I'm Iron," said the first one, "and very important!"

"I'm Phosphorus," said another, standing beside little Iron.

"I make your teeth firm and strong," sang gay Calcium, dancing into place.

And then Sulphur pulled his cap down over one eye, and with his hands in his pockets and his feet spread very wide apart, squeaked in his queer little voice, "I'm here, too, and my work is important for you."

Patty laughed until her sides ached at the way they fell over each other when they tried to form a pin-wheel.

One little odd red Brownie bowed before Patty as the others had done. "I am Protein, a perfect building-block for you, Patty!" And then he pulled his little red cap down tight on his head and turned cartwheels until he was quite out of breath.

All the while Mr. Milk Bottle smiled and nodded and looked very much pleased. By this time, too, Patty was feeling very much ashamed of the way she had spoken to him when he first came up to her. "Oh, Mr. Milk Bottle," she apologized with her prettiest smile, and her very deepest curtsy, "I do like you, and I do like your friends. They are all so happy and gay and so very polite. Won't you come to see me often?"

"We will come as often as you want us to," he smiled, "we live in every glass of milk you drink."

Questions:

1. How many pores has our skin?
2. Are human beings descendants of monkeys and gorillas?
3. What color is the sun?
4. Why does a zebra have stripes?

Answers:
1. After great study some one has found that the skin of an average sized man has about 7,000,000 pores. Each person's number is different, of course, but from this figure you can make some guesses that may be very nearly correct.

2. Great scientists have been trying to discover the answer to this question for many years, but although they know that the bodies of men and members of the monkey family are similar in structure, no explanations of this are yet known.

3. The sun cannot really be said to have any color. It merely has great brightness. Surrounding the bright surface is a gaseous substance that has a rose tint called the chromosphere. This, perhaps, gives the appearance of color to the sun.

4. The stripes of the zebra act as a protective coloring in the distance, making it difficult to find Mr. Zebra in the woods and on the plains where he dwells.

"New Iso-Vis Showed High Efficiency in CADILLAC"

Reports A.A.A.

READ this record that shows how New Iso-Vis distinguished itself in the Indianapolis Speedway tests. It's certified by the American Automobile Association.

- 1 New Iso-Vis did not thin out from dilution.
- 2 During entire 9,000 mile tests, all parts of engine and chassis were lubricated effectively.
- 3 Consumption: Iso-Vis 50 (Heavy) at 30 m. p. h.—only 2 qts. in 1000 miles. At 55 m. p. h. all oils all cars showed consumption 7 times that at 30 m. p. h.
- 4 Carbon formed was only 7.8 grams per cylinder at 30 m. p. h. using Iso-Vis 50 (Heavy).

5 The cylinder wear was too little to measure.

New Iso-Vis rings the bell on every point. No matter how you choose motor oil, if your choice is based on cold, hard facts, you must choose New Iso-Vis. These figures can't be dodged.

The make of car you drive makes no difference. New Iso-Vis proved itself in 13 prominent makes on the Speedway.

Enjoy the proved protection of New Iso-Vis—the only motor oil that will not thin out from dilution. Change to New Iso-Vis today.

When Washington Had Headquarters at West Point

ABOUT a mile north of West Point in a little vale known as Washington's Valley, General Washington established his headquarters July 21, 1779. Here he lived until the following winter in a huge mansion known as Moore's House—a structure which had been built prior to 1749 by John Moore, prominent New York merchant. The house, because of its size and costliness, was sometimes referred to as "Moore's Folly," a title by which it was designated in some of the literature of the day.

The Division of Information and Publication of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission recalls that at the time Washington established his headquarters at West Point, the military affairs of the Colony were in a bad way. Savannah had been taken by the British. Suffolk and Portsmouth, Virginia, New Haven and other cities had been sacked and burned by the enemy. Added to all this was the fact that the Continental currency had depreciated to such an extent that, as Washington said, a wagon load of it would scarcely purchase a wagon load of provisions.

Despite these misfortunes, however, there were some bright spots for the Americans such as the brilliant exploit by which Wayne captured Stony Point and the equally daring attack on Paulus Hook successfully carried out by young Major Lee. A little later in the summer the British evacuated Rhode Island.

From his headquarters at West Point Washington wrote the following letter to Dr. John Cochran, surgeon general of the army. In it the commander-in-chief reveals a spirit far from depressed and gives an idea of the style of living which prevailed at his headquarters.

"Dear Doctor: I have asked Mrs. Cochran and Mrs. Livingston to dine with me tomorrow; but am I not in honor bound to apprise them of their fare? As I hate deception, even where the imagination only is concerned, I will. It is needless to premise that my table is large enough to hold the ladies. Of this they had ocular proof yesterday. To say how it is usually covered is more essential; and this shall be the purport of my letter.

"Since our arrival at this happy spot, we have had a ham, sometimes a shoulder of bacon, to grace the head of the table; a piece of roast beef adorns the foot; and a dish of beans or greens, almost imperceptible, decorates the centre. When the cook has a mind to cut a figure, which I presume will be the case tomorrow, we have two beefsteak pies, or dishes of crabs, in addition, one on each side of the centre dish, dividing the space and reducing the distance between dish and dish to about six feet, which, without them, would be about twelve feet apart. Of late he has had the surprising sagacity to discover that apples make pies, and it is a question, if, in the violence of his efforts, we do not get one of the apples instead of having both of beefsteaks. If the ladies can put up with such entertainment, and will submit to partake of it on plates once tin but now iron (not become so by the labor of scouring), I shall be happy to see them."

A Governor for All the People

GOVERNOR FLOYD B. OLSON, who made such a good impression here when he spoke at the Farm Bureau's annual picnic held at Lum Park, has gained favorable comment in St. Cloud where he delivered an address during their Diamond Jubilee celebration.

The St. Cloud Times-Journal Press says Governor Olson contributed much to the Friday program of the Jubilee observance. He is not only a man of most pleasing personality, but as a speaker is easily one of the real orators of the northwest.

His address at the Teachers college was inspiring, and he presented his sane views on education and citizenship, and he is a real friend of education.

He gave a happy talk at the dinner in his honor, and his main address in the afternoon was most apt, showing his keen mind and his gift as a speaker, and his tribute to the pioneers was a classic.

Governor Olson is a young man, possessing vigor and high mental power, and he gives promise of going a long way in public life. Whether he appears before audiences in his own state, or in other states, he is a chief executive that will do credit to Minnesota, and which should be satisfactory to all citizens, regardless of political views. He is now the governor of all the people, and it is but fair to say that he is striving to render good service to all.

Improvement Pleases Motorists

THE Minnesota Highway department this month is building two foot shoulders of tar treated crushed rock on Trunk Highway No. 3 between Anoka and Elk River, and this improvement pleases all motorists and others using the highway.

This pavement, which is 18 feet wide, carries exceptionally heavy traffic, and cars going outside the concrete have made it difficult to maintain the earth shoulders in safe condition. The bituminous rock widening is expected to make the pavement safer and more serviceable, besides reducing the cost of shoulder maintenance. The work is in the nature of an experiment, and if found satisfactory will be continued on other 18-foot pavements.

The City of Brainerd should be interested in the experiment and if adopted by the State Highway department, should use it to enlarge the 13th street paving which is altogether too narrow a width for car safety.

Hot Weather Accidents

THE heat of a summer day causes some persons to become less vigilant when driving their cars and as a result accidents follow. This has been noted several times in Crow Wing county mishaps.

At the scene of the accident near Crow Wing which claimed two lives, another car drove up and zigzagged its way through highway and ditch and nearly upset. It was such a close shave with death that many of the people present said: "Here is another case for the coroner."

Looking at some of the fast driving indulged in by some people one wonders that they should be permitted to drive high speed cars. The time is undoubtedly coming when "governors" will be placed on car machinery effectually prohibiting fast speeds.

THE greatest factor in keeping down accidents during the Fourth of July week end was the weather, high points registered July 4 being 75, July 5 being 74 and July 6 being 72. Experience has borne out the fact that extreme heat is enervating and tends to laxity in driving. Mild weather is not "so hard" on car or driver.

Few Really Think

In his "Art of Thinking," Abbe Dimmet says that nineteen out of twenty people do not think, but live like automata. He holds that most people do not think "even ten minutes a day."

This is analogous to a thought of Montaigne's: "The majority of people are too lazy to attack a problem with more than a charge or two." Of course, there are subjects too vast for even studious minds to master. Taine studied human society in the attempt to arrive at some acceptable principle of government. At the end of twenty years of such study he said he had found only one principle—that society is a vast and complicated thing.—Exchange.

Bartholdi's Famous Statue

The sculptor, Bartholdi, has left a record about the execution of the Statue of Liberty. He says that first a statue which measured from head to foot 2.8 meters and in its entirety, 2.85 meters, was executed. It was done with rigid precision and then reproduced four times as large by the ordinary process. The model which was the result of this work measured about 11 meters in total height. It was divided into a large number of sections destined to be reproduced separately at four times their size. The sections were packed and shipped to New York, where they were assembled.

Mendelian Law Long Known

The famous Mendelian law on which rests the modern science of inheritance was perhaps known in part to the Japanese in the year 1300. Dr. Louis Blaringhem, of the University of Paris, returned from a visit to Japan, has described an old screen representing poppies whose colors follow to some extent Mendel's law. There are five red, white and five mixed or hybrid on the screen. Blended offspring of a white and a red poppy might produce five white, five red and ten mixed, according to present-day science. So though the ancient Japanese were not quite accurate, they had the main idea.

Famous Steamboat Race of Old Days Recalled

A writer in the Indianapolis News dips into the past with the following description of probably the most famous speed contest that ever took place on the Mississippi:

The river packets Robert E. Lee and the Natchez were both famous boats during the prosperous days of river shipping. The Robert E. Lee, owned by Capt. John W. Cannon, was built at New Albany in 1860. The Natchez was built at Cincinnati by Capt. Thomas P. Leathers. As the boats cruised the river, there was much speculation as to which was the faster. After some negotiation a race was arranged. No fixed rules were adopted, hence each captain had full power to order his boat as he desired. The race started from New Orleans at 5:00 p. m., June 30, 1870, with the Lee four minutes in the lead. The captain of the Lee elected to race without passengers and to strip his vessel of all excess weight. He also followed a course shorter than the route sanctioned for safe navigation. The captain of the Natchez accepted a full passenger list and followed his usual routine except from crowding steam to gain time. The Lee reached the goal, St. Louis, at 11:25 a. m., July 4, and the Natchez arrived at 6:00 p. m., the same day. The victory of the Lee was disputed on the ground that she did not follow her usual course with a cargo and passenger list, but popular opinion favored her.

No More Horse-Laughs

REMEMBER what our school books taught us about the lives of inventors who lived many years ago? How often we used to read, "He went on with his experiments in spite of the laughter of his friends, and the ridicule of his neighbors."

How different is the modern state of mind! This age is remarkable for its keen awareness of progress . . . the eager willingness of most of us to accept new things, and better ways. The skeptical person is the exception—expectancy is the rule. If we read about an invention that will wash the middle of our backs, we say, "Fair enough; tomorrow there will be an automatic way to keep our noses powdered."

New things and better ways are announced regularly in this paper . . . in the advertisements. Every day you may be expecting something that will make your life easier, pleasanter, more healthful. Possibly a new electrical contrivance, or a car that's easier to drive, or a new idea in breakfast foods. Follow the advertising columns . . . and sooner or later you'll get the good news. People who make it a point to know what's going on read the advertisements every day.

Few Really Think

In his "Art of Thinking," Abbe Dimmet says that nineteen out of twenty people do not think, but live like automata. He holds that most people do not think "even ten minutes a day."

This is analogous to a thought of Montaigne's: "The majority of people are too lazy to attack a problem with more than a charge or two." Of course, there are subjects too vast for even studious minds to master. Taine studied human society in the attempt to arrive at some acceptable principle of government. At the end of twenty years of such study he said he had found only one principle—that society is a vast and complicated thing.—Exchange.

Bartholdi's Famous Statue

The sculptor, Bartholdi, has left a record about the execution of the Statue of Liberty. He says that first a statue which measured from head to foot 2.8 meters and in its entirety, 2.85 meters, was executed. It was done with rigid precision and then reproduced four times as large by the ordinary process. The model which was the result of this work measured about 11 meters in total height. It was divided into a large number of sections destined to be reproduced separately at four times their size. The sections were packed and shipped to New York, where they were assembled.

Mendelian Law Long Known

The famous Mendelian law on which rests the modern science of inheritance was perhaps known in part to the Japanese in the year 1300. Dr. Louis Blaringhem, of the University of Paris, returned from a visit to Japan, has described an old screen representing poppies whose colors follow to some extent Mendel's law. There are five red, white and five mixed or hybrid on the screen. Blended offspring of a white and a red poppy might produce five white, five red and ten mixed, according to present-day science. So though the ancient Japanese were not quite accurate, they had the main idea.

Famous Steamboat Race of Old Days Recalled

A writer in the Indianapolis News dips into the past with the following description of probably the most famous speed contest that ever took place on the Mississippi:

The river packets Robert E. Lee and the Natchez were both famous boats during the prosperous days of river shipping. The Robert E. Lee, owned by Capt. John W. Cannon, was built at New Albany in 1863. The Natchez was built at Cincinnati by Capt. Thomas P. Leathers. As the boats cruised the river, there was much speculation as to which was the faster. After some negotiation a race was arranged. No fixed rules were adopted, hence each captain had full power to order his boat as he desired. The race started from New Orleans at 5:00 p. m., June 30, 1870, with the Lee four minutes in the lead. The captain of the Lee elected to race without passengers and to strip his vessel of all excess weight. He also followed a course shorter than the route sanctioned for safe navigation. The captain of the Natchez accepted a full passenger list and followed his usual routine except from crowding steam to gain time. The Lee reached the goal, St. Louis, at 11:25 a. m., July 4, and the Natchez arrived at 6:00 p. m., the same day. The victory of the Lee was disputed on the ground that she did not follow her usual course with a cargo and passenger list, but popular opinion favored her.

No More Horse-Laughs

REMEMBER what our school books taught us about the lives of inventors who lived many years ago? How often we used to read, "He went on with his experiments in spite of the laughter of his friends, and the ridicule of his neighbors."

How different is the modern state of mind! This age is remarkable for its keen awareness of progress . . . the eager willingness of most of us to accept new things, and better ways. The skeptical person is the exception—expectancy is the rule. If we read about an invention that will wash the middle of our backs, we say, "Fair enough; tomorrow there will be an automatic way to keep our noses powdered."

New things and better ways are announced regularly in this paper . . . in the advertisements. Every day you may be expecting something that will make your life easier, pleasanter, more healthful. Possibly a new electrical contrivance, or a car that's easier to drive, or a new idea in breakfast foods. Follow the advertising columns . . . and sooner or later you'll get the good news. People who make it a point to know what's going on read the advertisements every day.

MOST PROSPEROUS NATION IS FRANCE, FIGURES SHOW

Dr. Julius Klein Assembles Data Revealing Remarkable Progress in Past Few Years.

New York.—France is today the most prosperous nation in the world, according to figures assembled by Dr. Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce.

"In a world harassed by depression and economic anxiety, France's well-being is conspicuously impressive," Doctor Klein writes in Collier's Weekly. "Measured by almost every index, she has stood forth in the past few years as the most prosperous of nations."

"Until recently her unemployment has been practically nil, whereas the jobless armies in America, England, Germany and Italy, totaled this winter at their peak some 14,000,000 or more. Her per-capita gold holdings at this writing are about $67, as against $42 for Switzerland, $30 for Argentina, $34 for the United States, with England, Germany and Italy straggling far behind. In iron and steel exports, that great staple indicator of power in world trade, she has in the past five years stood at the head of the exporting nations."

"In telegraph wire mileage, her people are now better equipped than any in Europe, with a per-capita average nearly three times that of Germany or Italy and 70 per cent greater than that of England. Her roads in proportion to population are likewise far and away the most adequate on the globe; her improved road mileage per 10,000 of population is 90, whereas that of the United States is 51, England 39, Germany 34 and Italy 28."

Hers is the second greatest colonial empire on the globe and it is worth noting that practically all of it has been acquired since her debacle in 1871. The vital significance of that empire as an element in her present-day economic pre-eminence is all too frequently overlooked; indeed, her colonial commerce is the most important single factor in her external trade, outranking that of any other geographic entity both as a market and as a source of supply for the mother country.

New Data Discovered

in Ancient City of Ur

Philadelphia.—Historically important tablets, one of which provides the first evidence that the ancient city of Ur of Chaldees was inhabited as late as 324 B. C. in the reign of Alexander the Great, have been unearthed by the joint archeological expedition of the University of Pennsylvania museum and the British museum.

Announcement of the discovery of the tablets was made by Horace H. F. Jayne, director of the university museum, following receipt of a report describing the find from the expedition.

"During the last few months we have been excavating the residential section of the town belonging to the patriarchal age, from 2000 to 1900 B. C.," C. Leonard Woolley, field director of the expedition, said in his report.

"Above the residential quarter we have encountered only a few disjointed fragments of walls of a later date. At the lower level we found mud brick buildings lying some ten feet above the level of the well-preserved houses of the Abrahamic period and separated from them by a stratum containing burnt brick walls of about 1400 B. C."

"Inscribed tablets found in the ruins afforded accurate dating evidence. The houses were occupied, one tablet showed, down to the twelfth year of Alexander the Great. This is the first real evidence we have that proves that Ur survived down to the Greek age."

Pittsburgh.—The same heroic deed did double duty for James Lavery, Erie, earning him a distinguished service cross and, more recently, an automobile.

Lavery saved many lives in skirmish while serving with the American troops on the Mexican border. He made repeated trips to the scene of the attack and carried off the wounded in an automobile. He was cited for his bravery.

In a national essay contest Lavery described his experience in which the performance of the car, despite the fact it was riddled with bullets, was given credit for bringing the men to safety. The entry was adjudged the best in thousands submitted from all parts of the United States and Lavery was awarded first prize—a new automobile.

Beneficial Effects of

Mate Long Recognized

Brazil is the land of coffee, but Brazil is also the land of Brazilian tea or mate, and there is no reason, the Brazilians think, why the United States imports of more than $25,000,000 in oriental tea cannot be in large part supplanted by the infusion made from the leaves of the mate tree.

What coffee is to the humans north of the twenty-fifth parallel of latitude, mate is to those south of this line, and it is consumed by more than 20,000,000 people. The name comes from the gourd which the Indians have used for the beverage from earliest times.

Many years ago the remarkable effects of mate were noted among the Indian tribes, and it has been scientifically established that the infusion is beneficial to the nerves and to intellectual and muscular activity. One may go for a considerable time on mate without food. The amount of urea is reduced one-fourth, and oxidation of the tissues retarded.

Mate grows on large trees. The branches are cut off and dried and passed under a roller which crushes the leaves. The latter are then baled and sent to factories for further processing. Curitiba, Brazil, has the most extensive plants and is the commercial world center for the product.

Ginkgo Tree Has Long

and Interesting Past

The Ginkgo tree's native country was unknown to scientists until it was recently discovered growing wild in remote districts of western China. It has been under cultivation for many centuries and is now widely planted as an ornamental tree in all the civilized countries. Just when it was brought to this country isn't known, but it has long been cultivated in the eastern United States as far north as the Great Lakes.

This tree has a very long and interesting geological ancestry. It is the sole surviving representative of the numerous ancient group of gymnosperms called ginkgoes, which were abundant during the Jurassic period. It has a vile-smelling plum-like fruit, the seed of which is parched and eaten by the Chinese. The name is pronounced Gink-go, short "i," accented on the first syllable.

DORADE LEADS TRANSATLANTIC RACE TO PLYMOUTH, ENG.

PASSES LIZARD HEAD, 50 MILES FROM ITS GOAL

WAS ONE OF FLEET OF 10 FINE YACHTS LEAVING NEWPORT ON JULY 4

NEARS FINISH LINE IN REMARK- TIME OF ONLY 17 DAYS

Plymouth, Eng., July 21.—(U.P.)—The staunch racing yacht, Dorade, leading 10 yachts which set out from Newport, R. I., on July 4 in the race across the Atlantic, arrived at Plymouth at 6:14:42 p. m. today.

Plymouth, Eng., July 21.—(U.P.)—The trans-Atlantic race yacht, Dorade, out from Newport, R. I. passed Lizard Head, below Plymouth, at 7:25 a. m. today.

The Lizard Head, 50 miles from Plymouth, is the southernmost tip of England. Plymouth is the goal of the race.

The snappy and racy rigged Dorade was one of 10 racing yachts to leave Newport on July 4, on the daring Atlantic voyage to Plymouth. It neared its goal in the remarkable time of 17 days.

The Dorade was the first sighted so near its goal, and apparently was leading the field on the perilous cruise—a voyage called the "most daring race ever attempted."

The course lay over the North Atlantic, through dangerous fog zones and along the trans-Atlantic steamship lanes.

The Dorade is a 53-foot yawl, owned by Roderick Stephens.

New York, July 21.—(U.P.)—The Ketch, Ketch, Lismore, out of Marmaroneck, N. Y., one of 10 yachts in the trans-Atlantic race from Newport, R. I. to Plymouth, Eng., is slowly fighting her way eastward minus her mast and two members of the crew. But with the only woman in the race aboard.

TWO IMPORTANT GAMES ARE SCHEDULED THIS WEEK IN ELIMINATION

CHAMPIONSHIP GAME OF FIRST HALF TO BE PLAYED ON MONDAY

In the closest and best played game of the season last evening, South Side downed the Y. M. C. A., 2 to 1, making three teams now tied for first place in the city baseball league, S. S., "Y" and Northeast.

Officials agreed at a meeting after the game that South Side and N. E. replay game ending in a disputed 4-4 tie. The game will be played Thursday night. The Y. M. C. A. and South East meet Friday night. The two winners will meet in the championship game of the first half Monday night.

In the game last evening South Side scored the first run in the first inning when Nutting doubled, stole third and scored when Uddenberg lost the ball in the sup. There was no more scoring until the fifth when Peterson singled and scored on Graf's double to left to tie the count. The South Side won the game in the last half of the seventh and scored on Frank's line double to right.

Peterson was on the mound for the "Y" and pitched good ball. He retired the side on strikeouts in the fourth inning. Franks, for South Side pitched his usual good game and was very stingy with hits in the pinches. In the third inning with Bush on third and Hanson on second, Thompson lined a ball back at Peterson, who made a dandy catch of it to retire the side, and again in the fifth inning with the score tied 1-1, Rofidal was on second with the winning run and Uddenberg made a spectacular one handed catch of Nutting's line drive to retire the side.

Tonight Southeast and Northeast will start the second half due to the lack of time left to complete the second half schedule.

The Match in History

The word "match" is probably from the Greek and Latin "myxa," meaning a nozzle of a lamp. In 1337 we find reference in literature to matches, the name being applied to the wick of a candle or lamp. The earliest reference to matches in their present sense is found in 1530.

NEED ONLY PLAY 500 BASEBALL IN BALANCE GAMES

TO ADD THIS YEAR'S FLAY TO ALREADY IMPRESSIVE COLLECTION

IF THEY BREAK EVEN, WILL COMPLETE RECORD 96 VICTORIES AND 58 DEFEATS

By LEO H. PETERSEN (United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, July 21.—(U.P.)—Old man statistician, working on the theory that figures never lie, is just about ready to award the 1931 American league pennant to the Philadelphia Athletics.

The figure expert today will tell you the Athletics don't have to play much better than 500 ball in their 66 remaining games to add this year's flag to the already impressive collection on the Shibe park flagpole.

By breaking even for the rest of the season, the Athletics would compile a record of 96 victories and 58 defeats. Washington, now seven games behind the world champions, would have to win 40 of its remaining 66 contests to even tie the A's. That feat might not prove too big for the Senators, but, as the old man points out, it would be something out of the ordinary if Philadelphia could play no better than 500 ball.

The only reason the old man hasn't come out definitely on the A's is because of the prank the St. Louis Cardinals pulled on him last year. He had the Cardinals out of the running but they came from nowhere in July to win the pennant in September.

The old man got busy with the figures yesterday when the A's slugged out a 12 to 7 victory over the Chicago White Sox. When the world champions overcame a six run lead the White Sox built up in the first inning, mister statistician thought it would be a good idea to see what chances they had to win their third straight title this year.

Washington kept pace with a 7 to 3 decision over Detroit. It was the Tigers' seventh consecutive defeat and it marked Marberry's ninth triumph of the season.

Ed Wells pitched and batted the New York Yankees to an 8-5 victory over St. Louis. Wells not only held the Browns to nine hits but drove in the runs which enable the Yankees to win out.

Cleveland defeated Boston, 9 to 2, in the other American league game. Clint Brown limited the Red Sox to four hits.

Although idle, the St. Louis Cardinals' National league leadership was increased to six games when the second place Brooklyn Robins lost to Chicago, 1 to 0. Lefty Clark held the Cubs to three hits but Taylor's triple and Hemsley's single came in the seventh inning to manufacture the lone run. Root limited the Robins to seven scattered hits.

No other National league games were played.

FAST BASEBALL GAME PROMISED AS RIVALS CLASH IN BRAINERD TOMORROW

The Chippewa Indians will invade Brainerd tomorrow and will do battle with the Knights of Pythias baseball team in a game set for 6:15 p. m. at the municipal grounds.

The aborigines come to this city with numerous scalps dangling from their belts. The squad represents the only all Indian team in the country. The players hail from Mille Lacs lake. Some of the boys played with the University of Minnesota nine.

These players on the local lineup contend they will hang the hoodoo sign on the visitors: Richmond, Jarbo, M. Nutting, Ted Franks, L. Swanson, Mee, Trask, D. Montgomery, Swanny Erickson and Nelson.

C. S. Miller will umpire.

Walker's Chief Rooter?

By HARDIN BURNLEY

ALL the hoofs in his beloved Fatherland cannot deafen Champion Max Schmeling or otherwise draw his attention from the Jack Sharkey-Mickey Walker 15-round bout in Brooklyn, N. Y., tomorrow night. For while the gallant German proved he was no cheese champion by outclassing and stopping Bill Stribling on July 3, his heavyweight supremacy is still questioned by many who saw Sharkey toy with him a little more than a year ago, until Max tipped into a low punch and took the title on a foul. Of course, others will insist that the plodding German would have gone on to win after the early rounds just as he did against Strib. The only way to settle that is to have 'em battle again, and each passing day (as Joe Jacobs knows) adds to "my Max's" advantage, since the German is four years younger than the veteran Jack. Some think Sharkey is rather rusted already. Well—

Tomorrow night's Milk Fund bout should verify or explode those yarns about a "washed-up" and "worn out" Sharkey. Walker, hardly a light-heavy, will be giving out about twenty pounds to the U. S. heavy champ, and Mickey should be decisively whipped if Jack is in good shape. Indeed, in order to hope for another chance at the championship of the world, Sharkey must overwhelm Walker. A close decision or a draw would be equivalent to a defeat so far as Jack's desire of getting Schmeling into the ring with him again is concerned. Heck, Herr Jacobs!

And if the Rumson Bulldog should flatten or chew up the Boston Bear—well, it would leave Herr Schmeling sitting pretty as an absolutely undisputed champion of the world.

The battleship Sharkey must open up with all guns tomorrow night and blast that destroyer Walker out of the fisty seas. Otherwise, the Boston Gob's world title hopes are "spurious versunken"—sunk forever!

Recover THAT Cup!

By HARDIN BURNLEY

BECAUSE he scratched in favor of Sidney B. Wood, his U. S. compatriot, at Wimbledon, July 4, instead of to Jean Borotra, of France, Francis X. Shields is not the most popular player in international tennis, but he is one of the very best, nevertheless. Shields injured his knee in defeating Borotra in the Wimbledon semi-finals. It would have been a superb beau geste to have defaulted in favor of the French star, thus permitting the latter to play Wood in the final. But Francis did not do so. He was unable to meet Wood, so "Sid" became the Wimbledon 1931 singles champion while Shields nursed his knee in the fervent hope that all would be well for him and the United States when the latter strived with France for the Davis Cup in the international matches at Auteuil that start tomorrow and conclude Sunday.

Only astonishing reversals of form can prevent Uncle Sam recovering that most prized of tennis trophies. Shields, providing his knee is well again (and does not spring too easily), and Wood, at this writing in perfect form, should beat either: Rene La Coste (there's still some hope of him playing), Henri Cochet, or Borotra. Even if one of the U. S. challengers should lose, George M. Lott, Jr., and John Van Ryn should prevail in the doubles against Borotra and Jacques Brugnon, or any other combination that France produces this year.

In a broad sporting sense it was a bit unfortunate that Shields did not default to Borotra so the latter could measure rackets with Wood in the Wimbledon wind-up. True, Shields had beaten the ever-bounding Basque in decisive fashion despite an injured knee that handicapped him towards the end of that lively semi-final. Wood surely, in his Wimbledon form, seemed even stronger than Shields and probably he would have won against Borotra. To win the championship by default on its last day was almost an empty honor. But both Wood and Shields can make up for that this week-end if the aroused Frenchmen do not upset the ever fragile logic of sport possibilities.

NEARS FINISH LINE IN REMARKABLE TIME OF ONLY 17 DAYS

Plymouth, Eng., July 21.—(U.P.)—The staunch racing yacht, Dorade, leading 10 yachts which set out from Newport, R. I., on July 4 in the race across the Atlantic, arrived at Plymouth at 6:14:42 p. m. today.

Plymouth, Eng., July 21.—(U.P.)—The trans-Atlantic race yacht, Dorade, out from Newport, R. I., passed Lizard Head, below Plymouth, at 7:25 a. m. today.

The Lizard Head, 50 miles from Plymouth, is the southernmost tip of England. Plymouth is the goal of the race.

The snappy and racy rigged Dorade was one of 10 racing yachts to leave Newport on July 4, on the daring Atlantic voyage to Plymouth. It neared its goal in the remarkable time of 17 days.

The Dorade was the first sighted so near its goal, and apparently was leading the field on the perilous cruise—a voyage called the "most daring race ever attempted."

The course lay over the North Atlantic, through dangerous fog zones and along the trans-Atlantic steamship lanes.

The Dorade is a 53-foot yawl, owned by Roderick Stephens.

S. S. BEATS 'Y' TO FORCE THREE WAY LEADERSHIP

TWO IMPORTANT GAMES ARE SCHEDULED THIS WEEK IN ELIMINATION

CHAMPIONSHIP GAME OF FIRST HALF TO BE PLAYED ON MONDAY

In the closest and best played game of the season last evening, South Side downed the Y. M. C. A., 2 to 1, making three teams now tied for first place in the city baseball league, S. S., "Y" and Northeast.

Officials agreed at a meeting after the game that South Side and N. E. replay game ending in a disputed 4-4 tie. The game will be played Thursday night. The Y. M. C. A. and South East meet Friday night. The two winners will meet in the championship game of the first half Monday night.

In the game last evening South Side scored the first run in the first inning when Nutting doubled, stole third and scored when Uddenberg lost the ball in the sup. There was no more scoring until the fifth when Peterson singled and scored on Graff's double to left to tie the count. The South Side won the game in the last half of the seventh and scored on Frank's line double to right.

Peterson was on the mound for the "Y" and pitched good ball. He retired the side on strikeouts in the fourth inning. Franks, for South Side pitched his usual good game and was very stingy with hits in the pinches. In the third inning with Bush on third and Hanson on second, Thompson lined a ball back at Peterson, who made a dandy catch of it to retire the side, and again in the fifth inning with the score tied 1-1, Rofidal was on second with the winning run and Uddenberg made a spectacular one handed catch of Nutting's line drive to retire the side.

Tonight Southeast and Northeast will start the second half due to the lack of time left to complete the second half schedule.

Jack Phoenix of New York, in the seventh round, after Jeans had piled up a slight margin, knocked the Englishman out with a series of hard punches to the head.

WISHES FOR ALLEYS PAVING UNCERTAIN

Council Defers Action on Downtown

Will downtown Brainerd alleys be paved?

The city council listened to City Engineer R. T. Campbell's report of his interviews of the various property owners abutting alleys in Blocks 41, 43, and 45 last evening and were undecided.

After considerable figuring it was ascertained that property owners who have given their consent and who will probably sanction the paving represented 1315 feet of the total of 2640 abutting feet. Deduction thus indicated that at the present time there are against and others riding the fence were in the majority, representing 1325 feet.

Due consideration was given the problem with the result that the council took no definite action preferring to await developments at the next meeting.

In reporting of the petition he had circulated to learn the wishes of the property owners, Campbell said that 11 had signed the petition asking for the paving and that eight of the signers had consented to pay the cost when the work was completed.

Property owners signing the petition, Campbell reported, were the following: O'Brien Mercantile Co., J. W. Koop, First National Bank, W. E. Brockway, D. E. Whitney, Wm. Graham, F. W. Wieland, E. O. Webb, Russell Creamery, Henry I. Cohen, J. M. Mraz.

A few of the property owners were out of the city while two lodges, the Elks and the I. O. O. F. could not give assurance one way or the other until these lodges met in conference.

Campbell reported also that he had been informed that R. R. Gould and James Murphy would join those in favor of the paving. If it is indicated the majority of property owners desire the paving, the city of Brainerd owning property affected will give its sanction to the work.

The paving, Mr. Campbell had previously reported, will cost approximately $6,000 and will be entirely an assessment proposition.

The council decided also to postpone action on the proposed paving of Maple street between 5th and 6th street as the members favored all work done at the same time.

The projected Cemetery Hill paving, estimated to cost $25,000 also was laid on the table when it was reported that the Evergreen Cemetery Association has not announced its wishes in the matter. The city's share will be $12,500.

The proposed paving of Maple street will find opposition, aldermen reported. One property owner will be assessed in the amount of $1,000 should the paving be constructed. Campbell estimated the cost would be slightly less than $5 a front foot.

Cable Holds Up Moving
The legal aspect of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co.'s heavy cable crossing A street at Gillis avenue was asked of the city attorney.

The question was raised when Elmer Dahl, of the Water and Light Department, stated to the council that he is required by the telephone company to make a deposit of $250 before the cable will be raised to permit him to move his house which he purchased from the Brainerd Board of Education.

Dahl said he had bought one of the houses on Block 82 and had no other alternative than to move it on A St. He would have to pass the cable. He said the telephone company had promised him he would be refunded in the amount above actual cost of raising the cable six feet. Dahl considered the amount of deposit excessive. He stated another property owner in moving his house had cut off the top of the building to avoid cost of raising the cable.

Hilding Swanson, acting city attorney during the illness of City Attorney W. J. Swanson suggested that the cost of raising the cable be met and that if it was illegal Dahl would have a legitimate claim for reimbursement.

"I do not desire to go into court. After all I am a patron of the telephone company and desire only amiable feelings," Dahl said.

Mrs. E. T. Fleener, city clerk, said she had received several inquiries as to the existence of a rule that the telephone company must secure permission of the city before crossing streets with cables. She said she had searched her records and could find no application or blue prints to show that the telephone company had requested permission to cross the street.

City Engineer Campbell's advice was asked. He said he was of the opinion that the telephone company's franchise covered a blanket policy in the crossing of streets.

Dahl said he would pay the cost of raising the cable but would do so under protest.

The Brainerd Municipal Band requested donation of the license in the sponsoring of the Lachman-Carson carnival show here the week of August 3.

The council expressed the desire to assist the band in its program to raise money for the purchase of new uniforms but was obliged to lay the request on the table because the council would go against the city charter should it donate the license fee.

In a letter Henry Krause, manager of the band, gave information that one band has already raised $135 but a total of $800 or $900 would be needed to purchase new uniforms.

Policing of dances in the city was distributed among the various policemen not on duty.

The City Water and Light Board was granted a two car unloading zone on Fifth street.

A. C. White was granted a renewal of his taxi license.

Height of Waves

Waves rarely have a greater height than 50 feet, but they appear to be much higher when seen from a ship in the open ocean. These waves frequently have a greater height, however, in breaking upon a rocky coast. The highest wave reported by the hydrographic office of the United States Navy department was encountered in the North Atlantic ocean, December 22, 1922, by the British steamship Majestic. Its height was estimated at 80 feet.

GRASSHOPPERS HIT CROW WING COUNTY

Farmers Complain Situation May be Serious; Poison Bran
Mash Advocated

Farmers in various places of Crow Wing county reported today that the appearance of large hordes of grasshoppers is creating a serious situation.

The use of poison bran mash was advocated by County Agent E. G. Roth wherever the plague is hitting. Of the number of formulas tried out the following is advised as best adapted to Minnesota conditions: coarse wheat bran (free from shorts), 100 pounds; crude white arsenic, 5 pounds; salt, 5 pounds; amyli acetate, (technical grade), 3 ounces; molasses, (low grade), 2 gallons; water, 10 to 12 gallons.

Gorilla's Foot Like Man's

The gorilla has a foot more like man's than have any of the other primates. Dr. William L. Straus, Jr., of the Johns Hopkins university, has reported as a result of extensive studies on the foot of a gorilla. Both the muscles and the bones of the gorilla's foot are more like those found in men than are the chimpanzee's feet. Doctor Straus attributed this greater similarity to the gorilla's way of living. Chimpanzees and the other great apes live much more in trees, but the gorilla because he is so large, lives chiefly on the ground as man does. Consequently he uses his feet more like man than do the other primates, and the bones and muscles have developed accordingly.

"Last Turn Saloon," Notorious in Early Brainerd Days, Was Built in the '70s

The old "Last Turn Saloon," filled with its memories of events in the early days of Brainerd, is no more—workmen were busy today tearing down the old building.

Built in the middle seventies, the "Last Turn Saloon" was known as one of the most frequent places of early Brainerd days. For many years it was the most easterly building of the city, corner of Front and Fourth Sts.

This building will be remembered by all old timers as the place of trial of the two Indians and it was outside of the saloon that they were hung from a Norway pine. The stump of the tree was painted red, and was removed just a few years ago.

An oil company plans improvements on the site.

CAN PLACE SHEEP HERE AT REASONABLE COST

The western states have been severely hit by the drought and are short of pastures; consequently, they are anxious to dispose of sheep at reasonable prices.

County Agent E. G. Roth has just received a letter from the Agricultural Credit corporation, offering to place sheep at Brainerd, financed on their regular terms of three years, at the following prices:

Yearlings, $5.05; two year olds, $5.55; three year olds, $5.05; four year olds, $4.05.

These sheep are carefully selected by a representative from the Agricultural Credit corporation, and the best of quality will be secured. Farmers who have ample pasture and hay could well afford to take advantage of these very reasonable prices and sell sheep.

Anyone interested should get in touch with the county agent, court house, Brainerd, immediately.

WISHES FOR ALLEYS PAVING UNCERTAIN

Council Defers Action on Downtown Paving Until Definite Desires Are Known

OPPOSED IN MAJORITY NOW

Legal Aspect of Phone Cable on Street Blocking Moving of Houses Asked

Will downtown Brainerd alleys be paved?

The city council listened to City Engineer R. T. Campbell's report of his interviews of the various property owners abutting alleys in Blocks 41, 43, and 45 last evening and were undecided.

After considerable figuring it was ascertained that property owners who have given their consent and who will probably sanction the paving represented 1315 feet of the total of 2640 abutting feet. Deduction thus indicated that at the present time those against and others riding the fence were in the majority, representing 1325 feet.

Due consideration was given the problem with the result that the council took no definite action preferring to await developments at the next meeting.

In reporting of the petition he had circulated to learn the wishes of the property owners, Campbell said that 11 had signed the petition asking for the paving and that eight of the signers had consented to pay the cost when the work was completed.

Property owners signing the petition, Campbell reported, were the following: O'Brien Mercantile Co., J. W. Koop, First National Bank, W. E. Brockway, D. E. Whitney, Wm. Graham, F. J. Wieland, E. O. Webb, Russell Creamery, Henry I. Cohen, J. M. Mraz.

A few of the property owners were out of the city while two lodges, the Elks and the I. O. O. F. could not give assurance one way or the other until these lodges met in conference.

Campbell reported also that he had been informed that R. R. Gould and James Murphy would join those in favor of the paving. If it is indicated the majority of property owners desire the paving, the city of Brainerd owning property affected will give its sanction to the work.

The paving, Mr. Campbell had previously reported, will cost approximately $6,000 and will be entirely an assessment proposition.

The council decided also to postpone action on the proposed paving of Maple street between 5th and 6th street as the members favored all work done at the same time.

The projected Cemetery Hill paving, estimated to cost $25,000 also was laid on the table when it was reported that the Evergreen Cemetery Association has not announced its wishes in the matter. The city's share would be $12,500.

The proposed paving of Maple street will find opposition, aldermen reported. One property owner will be assessed in the amount of $1,000 should the paving be constructed. Campbell estimated the cost would be slightly less than $5 a front foot.

Cable Holds Up Moving
The legal aspect of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Co.'s heavy cable crossing A street at Gillis avenue was asked of the city attorney.

The question was raised when Elmer Dahl, of the Water and Light Department, stated to the council that he is required by the telephone company to make a deposit of $250 before the cable will be raised to permit him to move his house which he purchased from the Brainerd Board of Education.

Dahl said he had bought one of the houses on Block 82 and had no other alternative than to move it on A St. He would have to pass the cable. He said the telephone company had promised him he would be refunded in the amount above actual cost of raising the cable six feet. Dahl considered the amount of deposit excessive. He stated another property owner in moving his house had cut off the top of the building to avoid cost of raising the cable.

Hilding Swanson, acting city attorney during the illness of City Attorney W. J. Swanson suggested that the cost of raising the cable be met and that if it was illegal Dahl would have a legitimate claim for reimbursement.

"I do not desire to go into court. After all I am a patron of the telephone company and desire only amicable feelings," Dahl said.

Mrs. E. T. Fleener, city clerk, said she had received several inquiries as to the existence of a rule that the telephone company must secure permission of the city before crossing streets with cables. She said she had searched her records and could find no application or blue prints to show that the telephone company had requested permission to cross the street.

City Engineer Campbell's advice was asked. He said he was of the opinion that the telephone company's franchise covered a blanket policy in the crossing of streets.

Dahl said he would pay the cost of raising the cable but would do so under protest.

The Brainerd Municipal Band requested donation of the license in the sponsoring of the Lachman-Carson carnival show here the week of August 3.

The council expressed the desire to assist the band in its program to raise money for the purchase of new uniforms but was obliged to lay the request on the table because the council would go against the city charter should it donate the license fee.

In a letter Henry Krause, manager of the band, gave information that the band has already raised $135 but a total of $800 or $900 would be needed to purchase new uniforms.

Policing of dances in the city was distributed among the various policemen not on duty.

The City Water and Light Board was granted a two car unloading zone on Fifth street.

A. C. White was granted a renewal of his taxi license.

Good Reason Found for Giving Youth a Chance

It is hard for a parent to realize that youth can solve some of its problems and make some of its decisions without adult interference. The inability of adults to give a youth a chance to assume responsibility is of old standing. Most of us are unable to note the growing maturity of a boy. We keep on coddling and fathering him far beyond the point when he can make some of his decisions.

Prison on Rock

There is probably no spot on earth which is more desolate and uninviting than the southern tip of South America. The land is barren and the natives are miserable specimens of humanity, stunted, ill-fed and dirty with no ideas of morality.

A large rock in the ocean to the south of the cape is the tip of a volcano and is used as a prison for long-term convicts of Argentina. There are about 800 prisoners with a guard of 100. As escape is impossible on account of the rugged character of the country a large company of guards is not regarded as essential. The convicts are compelled to work and are given opportunity to learn a trade with the possibility of accumulating money so that they may start a new life when released.

Ralph Tweed Had Lots of Nerve

By PAUL FAY

(© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.) (WNU Service.)

THERE was no doubt about it, the new clerk, Harold Norwood, was very attractive to the girls.

But the eyes of one girl at the ribbon counter were not turned toward him in admiration; and the eyes of one man at the collar counter were not gazing at him enviously. For the eyes of Ralph Tweed and Minnie Webb, when the customers of Palmer Green Co. did not compel their attention, were on no one but each other.

Promptly at 6:02 p. m. Ralph stood outside the employees' entrance waiting for Minnie; for eight months and twelve days he had not missed a night in seeing her home after hours. Usually Minnie came out at three minutes after six, but tonight it was several minutes after that time and still she had not arrived. Finally, he saw her walk out with a group of excited, chattering girls around her; even at that distance Ralph could hear references to the new clerk.

"This afternoon," boasted one, "while I was in the basement, he took me over to the fountain and treated me to a soda."

"He tipped his hat to me, when he came in this noon," said another.

"He certainly is not bashful," said another, "like—well, like Ralph over there, for instance."

At this, Ralph's face turned a dull red; Minnie bit her lip. She came over and started to take his arm.

"Hello, Minnie."

The cheerful greeting caused her to turn; there beside her stood Harold Norwood.

"I am going up your way," he said. "I wonder if I may have the pleasure of your company. You know you look just like a close friend of mine at home. I wonder if you are anything like her. I presume so, for she certainly was a classy girl."

When the two had gone about a block Minnie found her tongue. "Well, you've got your nerve right with you, haven't you?"

"You aren't angry with me, are you?" Harold asked smilingly.

Minnie threw up her head and turned a little away. She seemed very stern and yet in the corner of her eye furthest from her escort there appeared just a little twinkle. Ralph never dared to compliment her; if he ever started he began to choke and cough before he got half way through.

When they reached Minnie's destination Harold suddenly leaned over and kissed her lips. Minnie did not move an eyelash; instead she looked at him speculatively. Often she had wondered what it was like to be kissed; often she had encouraged Ralph to try it; but that young man would have thought of kissing a goddess as soon as her. So now, the girl carefully considered it; she raised her finger to her mouth and felt her lips.

The following evening Ralph waited outside, but the night after that he didn't.

About three weeks later Harold was bringing Minnie home from a moving picture show a few minutes after eleven. They were passing a thick clump of bushes on a secluded street when suddenly a masked man sprang out from behind them and pushed a shining revolver against Harold's ribs.

The young man's hands went up like a streak of lightning. The assailant said nothing but crouched against the bush and put his hand over the other's mouth; for an automobile was speeding toward them. Minnie stood dumbfounded, waiting for her escort to act. As the car passed she saw the highwayman's head clearly illuminated; but all she could see was a battered black hat pulled low over his eyes, and a handkerchief folded diagonally, so that the corners covered his face.

In that moment of light, however, the girl noticed that the handkerchief was silk and that it had in the corner a wreath of flowers from a garden which existed only in some overworked imagination.

When the automobile had passed the holdup man noticed a glittering chain on the girl's neck and reached over to remove it; for the moment his back was turned to Harold. When he glanced around again he saw that youth fleeing wildly down the street. He immediately gave chase, leaving Minnie with a scornful twist to her countenance.

The next noon Minnie signified her lunch in the employees' lunchroom sooner than any of her friends. She went to the rack where her coat was hanging. Over it she found a man's coat, which she pulled off. But as she did so, it slipped from her hands and fell to the floor. When she had replaced it on the hook, Minnie noticed at her feet a couple of articles that had rolled from one of the pockets. She picked them up and examined them curiously. One was a round stick that felt somewhat like a clothespin; it was carefully covered, however, with bright, shiny tinfoil. The other article was a silk handkerchief and in the corner was a wreath from a garden which existed only in some overworked imagination. Minnie hastily shoved them in the pocket of the overcoat, as she saw Ralph approaching. He took the coat from the rack and put it on.

At four minutes after six that evening when Ralph emerged from the employees' entrance of Palmer-Green Co. he saw in front of him—Minnie. "Hurry up," she called to him cheerfully. "Do you think I can wait as late as this for you every night?"

Often she had wondered what it was like to be kissed; often she had encouraged Ralph to try it; but that young man would have thought of kissing a goddess as soon as her. So now, the girl carefully considered it; she raised her finger to her mouth and felt her lips.

The following evening Ralph waited outside, but the night after that he didn't.

About three weeks later Harold was bringing Minnie home from a moving picture show a few minutes after eleven. They were passing a thick clump of bushes on a secluded street when suddenly a masked man sprang out from behind them and pushed a shining revolver against Harold's ribs. The young man's hands went up like a streak of lightning. The assailant said nothing but crouched against the bush and put his hand over the other's mouth; for an automobile was speeding toward them. Minnie stood dumbfounded, waiting for her escort to act. As the car passed she saw the high-waisted man's head clearly illuminated; but all she could see was a battered black hat pulled low over his eyes, and a handkerchief folded diagonally, so that the corners covered his face. In that moment of light, however, the girl noticed that the handkerchief was silk and that it had in the corner a wreath of flowers from a garden which existed only in some overworked imagination.

When the automobile had passed the holdup man noticed a glittering chain on the girl's neck and reached over to remove it; for the moment his back was turned to Harold. When he glanced around again he saw that youth fleeing wildly down the street. He immediately gave chase, leaving Minnie with a scornful twist to her countenance.

The next noon Minnie finished her lunch in the employees' lunchroom sooner than any of her friends. She went to the rack where her coat was hanging. Over it she found a man's coat, which she pulled off. But as she did so, it slipped from her hands and fell to the floor. When she had replaced it on the hook, Minnie noticed at her feet a couple of articles that had rolled from one of the pockets. She picked them up and examined them curiously. One was a round stick that felt somewhat like a clothespin; it was carefully covered, however, with bright, shiny tinfoil. The other article was a silk handkerchief and in the corner was a wreath from a garden which existed only in some overworked imagination. Minnie hastily shoved them in the pocket of the overcoat, as she saw Ralph approaching. He took the coat from the rack and put it on.

Language of Italy

The language of Tuscany, more particularly of Florence, is the classical language of Italy. It was established as such by grammarians, who chose it chiefly because the "Three Crowns"—Dante, Petrarch and Boccaccio—used it.
